

MyGurukul

SACRED WISDOM — SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 2026

SACRED TEXT

ātmanas tejasā kaścīn nirmitaḥ parameṣṭhinā | BRP162.011.1

manyunāmānam atyugraṃ devasainyapurogamam || 11 || BRP162.011.2

— Brahmapurāṇa, Chapter 162: Story of Manyu helping the gods against the demons (Chapter 162), Verse 1

GURU'S INTERPRETATION

From the very essence of the Supreme Being, a radiant force emerged, sculpted by the divine architect himself. This is Manyu, a figure of immense power and intensity, destined to lead the celestial armies against the forces of darkness. This verse from the Brahmapurāṇa unveils a profound truth: that even in the face of overwhelming negativity, divine power manifests to restore balance. Manyu, whose very name signifies wrath or righteous anger, embodies the energy needed to confront injustice and defend dharma.

Consider this in your own life. You too, possess an inner Manyu, a wellspring of strength that arises when your values are threatened or when you witness suffering. It isn't about uncontrolled rage, but a focused, determined energy to act in accordance with your highest principles. The key is to harness this energy consciously, directing it towards constructive action rather than destructive outbursts. Just as Manyu was created to lead the gods, your inner strength can guide you through difficult situations, empowering you to stand up for what is right and protect those in need.

Think of times when you felt a surge of protective energy, a fierce determination to defend someone or something you deeply care about. That is the essence of Manyu within you. The Brahmapurāṇa reminds us that this power is not inherently negative; it is a tool, a divine gift to be wielded with wisdom and compassion. By understanding and embracing your inner Manyu, you can become a force for good in the world, contributing to the ongoing battle between light and darkness. You are not meant to be passive in the face of adversity; you are meant to rise, to act, and to embody the divine strength that resides within.

REFLECTION FOR TODAY

How can you consciously cultivate and direct your inner "Manyu" towards compassionate action and the defense of your values in your daily life?