

MyGurukul

SACRED WISDOM — SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 2026

SACRED TEXT

uśanā veda yacchāstraṃ devāsuragururdvijāḥ d sa ca dharmāṃ savaiyākhyāṃ prāptavāṅkurusattamaḥ e bhārgavāccyavanāccāpi vedānaṅgopabṛṃhitān d pratipede mahābuddhirvasiṣṭhāccaritavrataḥ e pitāmahasutaṃ jyeṣṭhaṃ kumāraṃ dīptatejasam d adhyātmagatitattvajñamupāśikṣata yaḥ purā e

— 6000000 (Chapter 12), Verses 10-12

GURU'S INTERPRETATION

This passage emphasizes the importance of seeking knowledge from diverse sources, a principle that resonates deeply even today. Uśanā, the preceptor of the demons and gods, held vast knowledge of scriptures, and Bhishma acquired that very dharma, complete with its interpretations, indicating a thorough and nuanced understanding, not just rote memorization.

Bhishma's learning wasn't limited to one source. He gained wisdom from Bhargava and Cyavana, learning the Vedas along with their supplementary texts, the Angas and Upangas. He also learned from Vasistha, known for his virtuous conduct and vows. This highlights the value of a multifaceted education, drawing from different perspectives and traditions to form a well-rounded understanding of life's complexities. The passage further emphasizes Bhishma's initiation by the eldest son of Brahma, the radiant Kumara, who possessed deep knowledge of the ultimate reality and the paths leading to it. Bhishma, in his pursuit of self-realization, sought guidance from this great teacher, indicating his humility and eagerness to learn.

This passage teaches you that true wisdom isn't confined to a single teacher or tradition. It encourages you to seek knowledge from various sources, respecting different perspectives and integrating them into your own understanding. Bhishma's example shows that spiritual growth involves continuous learning and a willingness to be guided by those who have walked the path before us. In modern life, this means being open to learning from mentors, books, experiences, and even from those who hold opposing viewpoints. Your spiritual journey is a tapestry woven from diverse threads of knowledge and experience. Embrace the richness of learning and allow it to guide you towards a deeper understanding of yourself and the world around you.

REFLECTION FOR TODAY

Are you truly open to learning from all sources, even those that challenge your existing beliefs, and how can you cultivate a deeper sense of humility in your pursuit of wisdom?